THE BIBLE

... in the beginning

is certainly the most remarkable of works. The literature, the art, the very beliefs of our Western Civilization spring from its immortal pages. The drama of The Bible, its people, its poetry, are indelibly etched in the memory of man as he journeys from one generation to the next. And, as the limitless dialogue between God and man continues, each generation returns to this timeless book for its first stories . . . the first adventure story . . . the first love story . . . the first conflict story . . . the first suspense story . . . the first spectacle story . . . the first story of enduring faith.

Now, three of the world's most renowned filmmakers, producer Dino De Laurentiis, director John Huston and writer Christopher Fry, have combined their talents to bring The Bible into the realm of motion picture art. Through the graphic medium of today's film screen, De Laurentiis, Huston and Fry depict in continuous sweep The Creation, Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel, Noah and The Ark, The Tower of Babel, The Destruction of Sodom, and the Saga of Abraham. The result is a motion picture unlike any ever made before.
